

Remarks

Applicant has carefully reviewed the application. To further prosecution, Applicant has amended claims 1, 3, 7-9, 13-14, 20-21, 24, and 29-33 in order to clarify the subject matter recited therein. Moreover, Applicant submits that many of these amendments actually broaden claim scope. Applicant has also added claims 34-37 to expressly capture the subject matter recited therein. For at least the reasons below, Applicant submits that the currently pending claims are in condition for allowance. Applicant therefore requests favorable action for this case.

Examiner Interview

Applicant thanks the Examiner for conducting a telephone interview with their attorney, William R. Borchers, on January 16, 2009. During the interview the Examiner and Applicant's attorney discussed the claims in light of the cited patent literature – U.S. Patent No. 6,437,876 and U.S. Patent Pub. No. 2003/0112462. In particular, the Examiner explained how he was applying the literature to claim 1. Applicant's attorney suggested trying to clarify several claim limitations, but the Examiner was non-committal regarding allowability of the claims. Thus, no agreement regarding allowance was reached.

Claims

The currently pending claims relate to techniques for printing a document. In general, the claims call for receiving document data from an application, the document data including data for printing at least a portion of the document from an application. Additionally, the claims call for accessing information associated with a sender of the document data and formatting a page to be printed such that the page includes at least a portion of the received document data and the accessed information, and the accessed information is located outside document data areas and inside printer allowable margins.

None of the cited literature, however, teaches receiving document printing data from an application, accessing information associated with a sender of the data, and formatting a page to be printed such that the page includes at least a portion of the received data and the accessed information. Moreover, none of the cited literature teaches that the accessed information is located outside document data areas and inside printer allowable margins.

New Claims

Claims 34-37 depend from claims 1, 14, 21, and 30, respectively, and, hence, contain all of their respective limitations. For at least the reasons give with respect to claims 1, 14, 21, and 30 therefore, claims 34-37 should also be in condition for allowance.

Applicant asks that all claims be examined in view of the amendment to the claims. Please apply $208 for excess claim fees, $810 for Request for Continued Examination, and $490 for the Petition for Extension of Time and any other charges or credits to deposit account 05-765.

Respectfully submitted,

Date: January 21, 2009
